THE WHITE HOUSE, October 27, 2005.

To the Senate of the United States:

I transmit herewith for the advice and consent of the Senate to ratification a Convention Between the Government of the United States of America and the Government of Bangladesh for the Avoidance of Double Taxation and the Prevention of Fiscal Evasion with Respect to Taxes on Income signed at Dhaka on September 26, 2004 (the "Convention"). An exchange of notes is enclosed, and the report of the Department of State with respect to the Convention is transmitted for the information of the Senate.

This Convention, which is similar to tax treaties between the United States and other developing nations, provides maximum rates of tax to be applied to various types of income and protection from double taxation of income. The Convention also provides for the resolution of disputes and sets forth rules making its benefits unavailable to those who are engaged in treaty forum shopping.

I recommend that the Senate give early and favorable consideration to this Convention and that the Senate give its advice and consent to ratification.

GEORGE W. BUSH.

LETTER OF SUBMITTAL

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
Washington, DC, September 23, 2005.

The PRESIDENT,
The White House.

THE PRESIDENT: I have the honor to submit to you, with a view to its transmission to the Senate for advice and consent to ratification, the Convention Between the Government of the United States of America and the Government of the People's Republic of Bangladesh for the Avoidance of Double Taxation and the Prevention of Fiscal Evasion with Respect to Taxes on Income, signed in Dhaka, on September 26, 2004 ("the Convention"). An exchange of notes is also enclosed for the information of the Senate.

The Convention generally follows the pattern of the 1996 U.S. Model Tax Convention ("the U.S. Model") while incorporating some provisions found in recent tax treaties between the United States and developing nations. It provides for maximum rates of tax to be applied to various types of income, protection from double taxation of income, and exchange of information. The Convention also contains rules making its benefits unavailable to persons who are engaged in treaty shopping.

The Department of the Treasury and the Department of State cooperated in the negotiation of the Convention and the exchange of notes. Both Departments have given their full approval.

Respectfully submitted.

CONDOLEEZZA RICE.

KEY PROVISIONS OF THE U.S.-BANGLADESH INCOME TAX CONVENTION

The proposed Income Tax Convention with Bangladesh generally follows the pattern of the U.S. Model treaty. Although there are certain deviations from the Model, similar to those found in many recent U.S. tax treaties with developing countries, the Convention overall tends to provide for less source-country taxation than in many U.S. tax treaties with developing countries.

With respect to income from business activities, Article 7 of the Convention generally follows the standard rules for taxation by one country of the business profits of a resident of the other. The source country's right to tax such profits is generally limited to cases in which the profits are attributable to a permanent establishment located in that country. As do all recent U.S. tax treaties, this Convention preserves the right of the United States to impose its branch taxes in addition to the basic corporate tax on a branch's business.

Under Article 8 of the Convention, income from the operation of ships and aircraft in international traffic, and from the rental or maintenance of containers used in international traffic, is taxed in a manner consistent with the U.S. Model. Article 8 permits only the country of residence to tax profits from the international operation of ships or aircraft, including profits from the rental of ships and aircraft when the ship or aircraft is operated by the lessee in international traffic, or when the rental activity is incidental to the operation of ships or aircraft by the lessor. All income from the rental or maintenance of containers used in international traffic is likewise exempt from source-country taxation under the Convention.

With respect to withholding rates on investment income, the proposed rates are generally lower than those in some recent U.S. tax treaties with non-OECD countries. Article 10 of the Convention provides that dividends from direct investments are subject to tax by the source country at a maximum rate of ten percent. The ownership threshold for direct investment is ten percent, in order to facilitate direct investment. Other dividends are generally taxable at a maximum rate of 15 percent. Under Article 12, royalties may be taxed by the source country at a maximum rate of ten percent.

Under Article 11 of the Convention, most interest may be taxed by the source country at a maximum rate of ten percent. However, interest income received by a financial institution (including an insurance company), and interest paid with respect to the sale on credit of industrial, commercial or scientific equipment or other merchandise, may be taxed at a maximum rate of five percent. Interest derived by a Contracting State, and interest on obligations guaranteed or ensured by a Contracting State, shall be exempt from taxation by the source country.

The reduced withholding rates described do not apply if the beneficial owner of the income is a resident of one Contracting State who carries on business in the other Contracting State and the income is attributable to a permanent establishment or fixed base situated in that other State. If the income is attributable to a permanent establishment, it will be taxed as business profits, and, if the income is attributable to a fixed base, it will be taxed as a payment for independent personal services.

The maximum rates of withholding tax described in the preceding paragraphs are subject to the standard anti-abuse rules for certain classes of investment income found in other U.S. tax treaties.

Article 13 of the Convention provides for the taxation of capital gains and follows the format of the U.S. Model. Gains and income derived from the sale of real property and from real property interests may be taxed by the State in which the property is located. Likewise, gains or income from the sale of personal property, if attributable to a fixed base or permanent establishment situated in a Contracting State, may be taxed in that State. All other gains, including gains from the sale of ships, aircraft, and containers, and gains from the sale of stock in a corporation, are taxable only in the State of residence of the seller.

Articles 15, 16 and 18 of the Convention address the taxation of income from the performance of personal services, which is essentially the same as that under recent U.S. tax treaties with other developing countries, although these provisions grant taxing rights to the host country with respect to such income that is broader than in the U.S. Model.

Article 17 of the Convention contains significant anti-treaty shopping rules, making its benefits unavailable to persons engaged in treaty shopping.

Articles 25 and 26 contain rules necessary for administering the treaty and domestic tax laws, including rules for the resolution of disputes under the Convention, and for the exchange of information.

The Convention would permit the General Accounting Office and the tax-writing committees of Congress to obtain access to certain tax information exchanged under the Convention for use in their oversight of the administration of U.S. tax laws.

The Convention is subject to ratification. In accordance with the provisions of Article 28, it will enter into force upon the exchange of instruments of ratification. With respect to taxes withheld at source, it will take effect for amounts paid or credited on or after the first day of the second month following the date on which the Convention comes into force; with respect to other taxes, the Convention will take effect for taxable periods (in the case of the United States) or for income years (in the case of Bangladesh) beginning on or after the first day of January next following the date on which the Convention enters into force.

Pursuant to Article 29, the Convention will remain in force until terminated by one of the Contracting States. Article 29 also provides that either State may terminate the Convention at any time after five years from the date it enters into force, by giving 6 months prior notice through diplomatic channels.

This Convention will be the first such Convention between the United States of America and the People's Republic of Bangladesh. In 1981, the Senate gave its advice and consent to a convention between the two countries that was signed in 1980, subject to understandings relating to income from the operation of ships in international traffic and to the operation of the provision relating to exchange of information for tax purposes. The 1980 convention never entered into force because of intervening changes in U.S. domestic tax law. The concerns expressed by the Senate in the understandings to the 1980 convention have been addressed in the current Convention.

CONVENTION BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF BANGLADESH FOR THE AVOIDANCE OF DOUBLE TAXATION AND THE PREVENTION OF FISCAL EVASION WITH RESPECT TO TAXES ON INCOME

The Government of the United States of America and the Government of the People's Republic of Bangladesh, desiring to the prevention of fiscal evasion with respect to taxes on income, have agreed as follows:

ARTICLE 1

Personal Scope

1. Except as otherwise provided in this Convention, this Convention shall apply to persons who are residents of one or both of the Contracting States.

2. a) Notwithstanding any provision of this Convention except paragraph 3 of this Article, a Contracting State may tax its residents (as determined under Article 4 (Fiscal Domicile)), and by reason of citizenship may tax its citizens, as if this Convention had not come into effect.

b) For this purpose, the term "citizen" shall include a former citizen or long-term resident whose loss of such status had as one of its principal purposes the avoidance of tax (as defined under the laws of the Contracting State of which the person was a citizen or long-term resident), but only for a period of 10 years following such loss. The term "long-term resident" shall mean any individual who is a lawful permanent resident of a Contracting State in 8 or more income years or taxable years during the preceding 15 income years or taxable years. In determining whether the threshold in the preceding sentence is met, there shall not count any year in which the individual is treated as a resident of the other Contracting State under this Convention, or as a resident of any country other than the first-mentioned Contracting State under the provisions of any other tax treaty of that State, and, in either case, the individual does not waive the benefits of such treaty applicable to residents of the other country.

3. The provisions of paragraph 2 shall not affect:

a) the benefits conferred by a Contracting State under paragraph 2 of Article 9 (Associated Enterprises), paragraphs 2 and 5 of Article 19 (Pensions, Et Cetera), Articles 23 (Relief From Double Taxation), 24 (Nondiscrimination), and 25 (Mutual Agreement Procedure); and

b) the benefits conferred by a Contracting State under Articles 20 (Government Service), 21 (Teachers, Students and Trainees) and 27 (Effect of Convention on Diplomatic Agents and Consular Officers, Domestic Laws, And Other Treaties), upon individuals who are neither citizens of, nor have immigrant status in, that State.

ARTICLE 2

Taxes Covered

1. This Convention shall apply to taxes on income imposed by a Contracting State.
2. The existing taxes to which this Convention shall apply are:
  - a) In the United States: the Federal income taxes imposed by the Internal Revenue Code;
  - b) In Bangladesh: the income tax (including surcharges calculated by reference to income taxes).
3. The Convention shall apply also to any identical or substantially similar taxes which are imposed by a Contracting State after the date of signature of this Convention in addition to, or in place of, the existing taxes. The competent authorities of the Contracting States shall notify each other of any changes that have been made in their respective taxation or other laws that significantly affect their obligations under this Convention.

OK

enterprise may be taxed in that other State but only so much of them as is attributable to that permanent establishment.

2. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 3, where an enterprise of a Contracting State carries on business in the other Contracting State through a permanent establishment situated therein, there shall in each Contracting State be attributed to that permanent establishment the business profits which it might be expected to make if it were a distinct and independent enterprise engaged in the same or similar activities under the same or similar conditions.

3. In determining the business profits of a permanent establishment, there shall be allowed as deductions those expenses which are incurred for the purposes of the permanent establishment, including a reasonable allocation of executive and general administrative expenses, research and development expenses, interest, and other expenses incurred for the purposes of the enterprise as a whole or the part thereof which includes the permanent establishment, whether incurred in the State in which the permanent establishment is situated or elsewhere.

4. No business profits shall be attributed to a permanent establishment by reason of the mere purchase by that permanent establishment of goods or merchandise for the enterprise.

5. For the purposes of the preceding paragraphs, the business profits to be attributed to the permanent establishment shall be determined by the same method year by year unless there is good and sufficient reason to the contrary.

6. Where business profits include items of income which are dealt with separately in other Articles of this Convention, then the provisions of those Articles shall not be affected by the provisions of this Article.

7. For the purposes of this Convention, "business profits" means income derived from any trade or business whether carried on by an individual, company, enterprise or any other person, or group of persons, including the rental of tangible personal (movable) property and performance of personal services by an enterprise.

ARTICLE 8

Shipping and Air Transport

1. Profits of an enterprise of a Contracting State from the operation in international traffic of ships or aircraft shall be taxable only in that State.

2. For purposes of this Article, profits from the operation in international traffic of ships or aircraft include profits derived from the rental on a full or bareboat basis of ships or aircraft if operated in international traffic by the lessee or if such rental profits are incidental to other profits described in paragraph 1.

3. Profits of an enterprise of a Contracting State from the rental or maintenance of containers (including trailers, barges and related equipment for the transport of containers) used in international traffic shall be taxable only in that State.

4. The provisions of paragraphs 1 and 3 shall also apply to profits derived from the participation in a pool, a joint business or an international operating agency.

ARTICLE 9

Associated Enterprises

1. Where

a) an enterprise of a Contracting State participates directly or indirectly in the management, control or capital of an enterprise of the other Contracting State, or

b) the same persons participate directly or indirectly in the management, control or capital of an enterprise of a Contracting State and an enterprise of the other Contracting State, and in either case conditions are made or imposed between the two enterprises in their commercial or financial relations which differ from those which would be made between independent enterprises, then any profits which would, but for those conditions, have not so accrued, may be included in the profits of that enterprise and taxed accordingly.

2. Where a Contracting State includes in the profits of an enterprise of that State, and taxes accordingly, profits on which an enterprise of the other Contracting State has been charged to tax in that other State, and the profits so included are profits which would have accrued to the enterprise of the first-mentioned State if the conditions made between the two enterprises had been those which would have been made between independent enterprises, then that other State shall make an appropriate adjustment to the amount of the tax charged therein on those profits. In determining such adjustment, due regard shall be had to the other provisions of this Convention and the competent authorities of the Contracting States shall if necessary consult each other.

3. The provisions of paragraph 1 shall not limit any provisions of the law of either Contracting State which permit the distribution, apportionment or allocation of income, deductions, credits, or allowances between persons owned or controlled directly or indirectly by the same interests when necessary in order to prevent evasion of taxes or clearly to reflect the income of any of such persons.

ARTICLE 10

Dividends

1. Dividends paid by a company which is a resident of a Contracting State to a resident of the other Contracting State may be taxed by both Contracting States.

2. However, if the beneficial owner of the dividends is a resident of the other Contracting State, the tax charged in the first-mentioned Contracting State shall not exceed:

a) 10 percent of the gross amount of the dividends if the beneficial owner is a company which owns, directly or indirectly, at least 10 percent of the voting stock of the company paying the dividends;

b) 15 percent of the gross amount of the dividends in all other cases.

The provisions of this paragraph shall not affect the taxation of the company in respect of the profits out of which the dividends are paid.

3. Subparagraph a) of paragraph 2 shall not apply in the case of dividends paid by a United States Regulated Investment Company (RIC) or a Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT). In the case of dividends from a RIC, subparagraph b) of paragraph 2 shall apply. In the case of dividends paid by a REIT, subparagraph b) shall apply instead of the rate of tax applicable under domestic law only if:

a) the beneficial owner of the dividends is an individual holding an interest of no more than 10 percent in the REIT;

b) the dividends are paid with respect to a class of stock that is publicly traded and the beneficial owner of the dividends is a person holding an interest of no more than 5 percent in any class of the REIT's stock; or

c) the beneficial owner of the dividends is a person that holds an interest of no more than 10 percent in the REIT and the REIT is diversified.

4. The term "dividends" as used in this Convention means income from shares or other rights, not being debt-claims, participating in profits, as well as income from other corporate rights which is subjected to the same taxation treatment as income from shares by the taxation law of the State of which the company making the distribution is a resident, and income from arrangements, including debt obligations, carrying the right to participate in profits, to the extent so characterized under the laws of the Contracting State in which the income arises.

5. The provisions of paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 shall not apply if the beneficial owner of the dividends, being a resident of a Contracting State, carries on business in the other Contracting State, of which the company paying the dividends is a resident, through a permanent establishment situated therein, or performs in that other State independent personal services from a fixed base situated therein, and the holding in respect of which the dividends are paid is effectively connected with such permanent establishment or fixed base. In such a case, the provisions of Article 7 (Business Profits) or Article 15 (Independent Personal Services), as the case may be, shall apply.

ARTICLE 11

Interest

1. Interest derived by a resident of one of the Contracting States from sources within the other Contracting State may be taxed by both Contracting States.

2. Interest derived and beneficially owned by a resident of one of the Contracting States from sources within the other Contracting State shall not be taxed by the other Contracting

JK

State at a rate in excess of 10 percent of the gross amount of such interest.

3. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs 1 and 2:

a) Interest derived by one of the Contracting States, or an instrumentality thereof (including the Bangladesh Bank, the Federal Reserve Banks of the United States, the Export-Import Bank of the United States, the Overseas Private Investment Corporation of the United States, and such other institutions of either Contracting State as the competent authorities of both Contracting States may determine by mutual agreement) from sources in the other Contracting State shall be exempt from tax by that other Contracting State. Interest on a debt obligation guaranteed or insured by one of the Contracting States, or an instrumentality thereof, shall be exempt from tax by that State;

b) Interest derived and beneficially owned by a bank or other financial institution (including an insurance company) that is a resident of a Contracting State from sources within the other Contracting State shall not be taxed by the other Contracting State at a rate in excess of 5 percent of the gross amount of the interest; and

c) Interest derived and beneficially owned by a resident of a Contracting State from sources within the other Contracting State in connection with the sale on credit to an enterprise of the other Contracting State of any industrial, commercial or scientific equipment or of any merchandise, shall not be taxed by the other Contracting State at a rate in excess of 5 percent of the gross amount of the interest.

4. The provisions of paragraphs 2 and 3 shall not apply if the beneficial owner of interest from sources within one of the Contracting States, being a resident of the other Contracting State, carries on business in the first-mentioned Contracting State through a permanent establishment situated therein or performs in that other State independent personal services from a fixed base situated therein, and the debt-claim in respect of which the interest is paid is effectively connected with such permanent establishment or fixed base. In such a case, the provisions of Article 7 (Business Profits) or Article 15 (Independent Personal Services), as the case may be, shall apply.

5. Where an amount is paid to a related person and would be treated as interest but for the fact that it exceeds an amount which would have been paid to an unrelated person, the provisions of this Article shall apply only to so much of the amount as would have been paid to an unrelated person. In such a case, the excess amount may be taxed by each Contracting State according to its own laws, including the provisions of this Convention where applicable.

6. The term "interest" as used in this Convention means income from debt-claims of every kind, whether or not secured by mortgage, and whether or not carrying a right to participate in the debtor's profits, and in particular, income from government securities and income from bonds or debentures, including premiums and prizes attaching to such securities, bonds or debentures, and including an excess inclusion with respect to a residual interest in a real estate mortgage investment conduit, as well as income assimilated to income from money lent by the taxation law of the Contracting State in which the income arises, including interest on deferred payment sales. However, the term "interest" does not include income dealt with in Article 10 (Dividends).

7. The provisions of paragraphs 2 and 3 shall not apply to:

a) an excess inclusion with respect to a residual interest in a real estate mortgage investment conduit; such an interest may be taxed in the Contracting State where the excess inclusion arises according to the laws of that State; or

b) interest that is contingent interest of a type that does not qualify as portfolio interest under United States law, and to equivalent amounts under Bangladesh law; such interest may be taxed at a rate not exceeding the rate prescribed in subparagraph b) of paragraph 2 of Article 10 (Dividends).

8. Interest shall be deemed to arise from sources within a Contracting State when the payer is a resident of that State. Where, however, the person paying the interest, whether he is a resident of a Contracting State or not, has in a Contracting State a permanent establishment or a fixed base and such interest is borne by such permanent establishment or fixed base, then such interest shall be deemed to arise from sources within the State in which the permanent establishment or fixed base is situated.

ARTICLE 12

Royalties

1. Royalties derived by a resident of one of the Contracting States from sources within the other Contracting State may be taxed by both Contracting States.

2. Royalties derived and beneficially owned by a resident of one of the Contracting States from sources within the other Contracting State shall not be taxed by that other Contracting State at a rate in excess of 10 percent of the gross amount of such royalties.

3. The term "royalties" as used in this Article means payments of any kind received as a consideration for the use of, or the right to use, any copyright of literary, artistic or scientific work including cinematographic films or tapes used for radio or television broadcasting, and any patent, trademark, design or model, plan, secret formula or process, or other like right or property, or for information concerning industrial, commercial or scientific experience. The term "royalties" also includes gains derived from the alienation of any such right or property which are contingent on the productivity, use, or disposition thereof. However, the term "royalties" does not include any payments in consideration for the working of, or the right to work, mineral deposits, sources and other natural resources.

4. The provisions of paragraphs 1 and 2 shall not apply if the recipient of the royalties from sources within one of the Contracting States, being a resident of the other Contracting State, carries on business in the first-mentioned Contracting State through a permanent establishment situated therein, or performs in that other State independent personal services from a fixed base situated therein, and the right or property in respect of which the royalties are paid is effectively connected with such permanent establishment or fixed base. In such a case the provisions of Article 7 (Business Profits) or Article 15 (Independent Personal Services), as the case may be, shall apply.

5. Where an amount is paid to a related person and would be treated as a royalty but for the fact that it exceeds an amount which would have been paid to an unrelated person, the provisions of this Article shall apply only to so much of the amount as would have been paid to an unrelated person. In such case, the excess amount may be taxed by each Contracting State according to its own laws, including the provisions of this Convention where applicable.

6. Royalties shall be deemed to arise from sources within a Contracting State when they are in consideration for the use of, or the right to use, in that State, property or information concerning industrial, commercial or scientific experience.

ARTICLE 13

Capital Gains

1. a) Gains derived by a resident of a Contracting State from the alienation of immovable property situated in the other Contracting State may be taxed in that other State;

b) For purposes of this paragraph the term "immovable property" means property referred to in Article 6 (Income From Immovable Property). When the United States is the other Contracting State described in subparagraph a), the term includes a United States real property interest. When Bangladesh is the other Contracting State described in subparagraph a), the term includes shares of the capital stock of a company the property of which consists principally of immovable property situated in Bangladesh.

2. Gains from the alienation of movable property forming part of the business property of a permanent establishment which an enterprise of a Contracting State has in the other Contracting State or of movable property pertaining to a fixed base available to a resident of a Contracting State in the other Contracting State for the purpose of performing independent personal services, including such gains from the alienation of such a permanent establishment, alone or with the whole enterprise, or of such fixed base, may be taxed in that other State.

3. Gains derived by an enterprise of a Contracting State from the alienation of ships, aircraft or containers operated in international traffic shall be taxable only in that State, and gains described in Article 12 (Royalties) shall be taxable only in accordance with the provisions of Article 12.

4. Gains from the alienation of any property, other than that referred to in paragraphs 1, 2 and 3, shall be taxable only in the Contracting State of which the alienator is a resident.

b) in the case of Bangladesh, an amount sufficient to provide that a branch in Bangladesh of a United States company (or a company of the United States otherwise taxable on net income in Bangladesh) is taxed in a manner comparable to a similarly situated Bangladesh company and its United States shareholder.

3. The taxes described in the preceding paragraphs shall not be imposed at a rate exceeding:

a) the rate specified in paragraph 2a) of Article 10 (Dividends) for the taxes described in paragraphs 2a)i) and 2b) of this Article; and

b) the appropriate rate specified in paragraphs 2 or 3 of Article 11 (Interest) for the tax described in subparagraph 2(a) (ii).

3. Notwithstanding paragraphs 1 and 2, items of income of a resident of a Contracting State not dealt with in the foregoing Articles of this Convention and arising in the other Contracting State may be taxed in that other State.

ARTICLE 23

Relief From Double Taxation

1. In accordance with the provisions and subject to the limitations of the law of the United States (as it may be amended from time to time without changing the general principle hereof), the United States shall allow to a resident or citizen of the United States as a credit against the United States tax on income the appropriate amount of tax paid or accrued to Bangladesh by or on behalf of such citizen or resident; and, in the case of a United States company owning at least 10 percent of the voting stock of a company which is a resident of Bangladesh from which the United States company receives a dividend in any taxable year, the United States shall allow a credit for the appropriate amount of tax paid or accrued to Bangladesh by or on behalf of the payor with respect to the profits out of which such dividends are paid. Such appropriate amount shall be based upon the amount of tax paid or accrued to Bangladesh, but the credit shall not exceed the limitations (for the purpose of limiting the credit to the United States tax on income from sources outside the United States) provided by United States law for the taxable year. For purposes of applying the United States credit in relation to tax paid to Bangladesh, the taxes referred to in paragraphs 2(b) and 3 of Article 2 (Taxes Covered) shall be considered to be income taxes.

2. In accordance with the provisions and subject to the limitations of the law of Bangladesh (as it may be amended from time to time without changing the general principle hereof), Bangladesh shall allow a resident of Bangladesh as a credit against the Bangladesh tax the appropriate amount of tax paid or accrued to the United States by or on behalf of such resident or citizen; and, in the case of a Bangladesh company owning at least 10 percent of the voting stock of a company which is a resident of the United States from which it receives a dividend in any income year, Bangladesh shall allow a credit for the appropriate amount of tax paid or accrued to the United States by that company with respect to the profits out of which such dividends are paid. Such appropriate amount shall be based upon the amount of tax paid or accrued to the United States, but the credit shall not exceed the limitations (for the purpose of limiting the credit to the Bangladesh tax on income from sources outside of Bangladesh) provided by Bangladesh law for the income year. For purposes of applying the Bangladesh credit in relation to tax paid to the United States, the taxes referred to in paragraphs 2(a) and 3 of Article 2 (Taxes Covered) shall be considered to be income taxes.

3. Where a United States citizen is a resident of Bangladesh:

a) with respect to items of income that under the provisions of this Convention are exempt from United States tax or that are subject to a reduced rate of United States tax when derived by a resident of Bangladesh who is not a United States citizen, Bangladesh shall allow as a credit against Bangladesh tax only the tax paid, if any, that the United States may impose under the provisions of this Convention, other than taxes that may be imposed solely by reason of citizenship under the saving clause of paragraph 2 of Article 1 (Personal Scope);

b) for purposes of computing United States tax on those items of income referred to in subparagraph a), the United States shall allow as a credit against United States tax the income tax paid to Bangladesh after the credit referred to in subparagraph a); the credit so allowed shall not reduce the portion of the United States tax that is creditable against the Bangladesh tax in accordance with subparagraph a); and

c) for the exclusive purpose of relieving double taxation in the United States under subparagraph b), items referred to in subparagraph a) shall be deemed to arise in Bangladesh to the extent necessary to avoid double taxation of such income under subparagraph b).

ARTICLE 24

Nondiscrimination

1. Nationals of a Contracting State shall not be subjected in the other State to any taxation or any requirement connected therewith which is other or more burdensome than the taxation and connected requirements to which nationals of that other State in the same circumstances are or may be subjected. For purposes of United States taxation, United States nationals who are not resident in the United States are not in the same circumstances as Bangladesh nationals who are not resident in the United States. This provision shall, notwithstanding the provisions of Article 1 (Personal Scope), also apply to persons who are not residents of either Contracting State.

2. The taxation on a permanent establishment or a fixed base which a resident or enterprise of a Contracting State has in the other Contracting State shall not be less favorably levied in that other State than the taxation levied on residents or enterprises of that other State carrying on the same activities.

3. Except where the provisions of paragraph 1 of Article 9 (Associated Enterprises), paragraph 5 of Article 11 (Interest), or paragraph 5 of Article 12 (Royalties) apply, interest, royalties and other disbursements paid by an enterprise of a Contracting State to a resident of the other Contracting State shall, for the purpose of determining the taxable profits of such enterprise, be deductible under the same conditions as if they had been paid to a resident of the first-mentioned State. The provisions of this paragraph shall not affect the application of the law of Bangladesh requiring the deduction of tax at source, from interest, royalties and other disbursements as a condition for deduction. Any debts of a resident of a Contracting State to a resident of the other Contracting State shall, for the purpose of determining the taxable capital of the first-mentioned resident, be deductible under the same conditions as if they had been contracted to a resident of the first-mentioned State.

4. Enterprises of a Contracting State, the capital of which is wholly or partly owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by one or more residents of the other Contracting State, shall not be subjected in the first-mentioned State to any taxation or any requirement connected therewith which is other or more burdensome than the taxation and connected requirements to which other similar enterprises of the first-mentioned State are or may be subjected.

5. Nothing in this Article shall be construed as obliging a Contracting State to grant to residents of the other Contracting State any personal allowances, reliefs and reductions for taxation purposes which it grants to its own residents.

6. Nothing in this Article shall be construed as preventing either Contracting State from imposing the tax described in Article 14 (Branch Tax).

7. The provisions of this Article shall apply to taxes of every kind and description imposed by a Contracting State or a political subdivision or local authority thereof.

ARTICLE 25

Mutual Agreement Procedure

1. Where a person considers that the actions of one or both of the Contracting States result or will result for him in taxation not in accordance with the provisions of this Convention, he may, irrespective of the remedies provided by the domestic law of those States, and the time limits prescribed in such laws for presenting claims for a refund, present his case to the competent authority of either Contracting State.

2. The competent authority shall endeavor, if the objection appears to it to be justified and if it is not itself able to arrive at a satisfactory solution, to resolve the case by mutual agreement with the competent authority of the other Contracting State, with a view to the avoidance of taxation which is not in accordance with the Convention. If an agreement is reached, it shall be implemented notwithstanding any time limits in the domestic law of the Contracting States. Assessment and collection procedures shall be suspended during the pendency of any mutual agreement proceeding.

3. The competent authorities of the Contracting States shall endeavor to resolve by mutual agreement any difficulties or doubts arising as to the interpretation or application of the Convention. In particular the competent authorities of the Contracting States may agree:

a) to the same attribution of income, deductions, credits, or allowances of an enterprise of a Contracting State to its permanent establishment situated in the other Contracting State;

b) to the same allocation of income, deductions, credits, or allowances between persons, including a uniform position on the application of the requirements of paragraph 2 of Article 24 (Nondiscrimination);

c) to the same characterization of particular items of income;

d) to the same application of source rules with respect to particular items of income; and

e) to a common meaning of a term.

They may also consult together for the elimination of double taxation in cases not provided for in the Convention.

4. The competent authorities of the Contracting States may communicate with each other directly for the purpose of reaching an agreement in the sense of the preceding paragraphs.

5. In cases where this Convention specifies a dollar amount, the competent authorities may agree to a higher dollar amount.

ARTICLE 26

Exchange of Information and Administrative Assistance

1. The competent authorities of the Contracting States shall exchange such information as is necessary for carrying out the provisions of this Convention or of the domestic laws of the Contracting States concerning taxes covered by the Convention insofar as the taxation thereunder is not contrary to the Convention. The exchange of information is not restricted by Article 1 (Personal Scope). Any information received by a Contracting State shall be treated as secret in the same manner as information obtained under the domestic laws of that State and shall be disclosed only to persons or authorities, including court and administrative bodies, involved in the assessment, collection or administration of, the enforcement or prosecution in respect of, or the determination of appeals in relation to, the taxes covered by the Convention, or the oversight of the above. Such persons or authorities shall use the information only for the purposes described above. They may disclose the information for such purposes in public court proceedings or in judicial decisions.

2. In no case shall the provisions of paragraph 1 be construed so as to impose on a Contracting State the obligation:

- a) to carry out administrative measures at variance with the laws and administrative practice of that or of the other Contracting State;
- b) to supply information which is not obtainable under the laws or in the normal course of the administration of that or of the other Contracting State;
- c) to supply information which would disclose any trade, business, industrial, commercial or professional secret or trade process, or information the disclosure of which would be contrary to public policy (ordre public).

3. Notwithstanding paragraph 2, the competent authority of the requested State shall, in accordance with paragraph 1,

- a) obtain and provide information held by financial institutions, nominees or persons acting in an agency or fiduciary capacity (not including information that would reveal confidential communications between a client and an attorney, solicitor or other legal representative, where the client seeks legal advice), or respecting interests in a person; and

- b) obtain and provide information requested by a Contracting State in accordance with this Article even if it does not need, for its own tax purposes, the information requested.

4. If specifically requested by the competent authority of a Contracting State, the competent authority of the other Contracting State shall provide information under this Article in the form of depositions of witnesses and authenticated copies of unedited original documents (including books, papers, statements, records, accounts and writings), to the extent such depositions and documents can be obtained under the laws and administrative practices of that other State with respect to its own taxes

ARTICLE 27

Effect of Convention on Diplomatic Agents and Consular Officers, Domestic Laws, And Other Treaties

1. Nothing in this Convention shall affect the fiscal privileges of diplomatic agents or consular officers under the general rules of international law or under the provisions of special agreements.

2. This Convention shall not restrict in any manner any exclusion, exemption, deduction, credit, or other allowance now or hereafter accorded:

- a) by the laws of either Contracting State, or
- b) by any other agreement between the Contracting States.

3. a) Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph 2b):

- i) the provisions of Article 25 (Mutual Agreement Procedure) of this Convention exclusively shall apply to any dispute concerning whether a measure is within the scope of this Convention, and the procedures under this Convention exclusively shall apply to that dispute; and

- ii) unless the competent authorities determine that a taxation measure is not within the scope of this Convention, the nondiscrimination obligations of this Convention exclusively shall apply with respect to that measure, except for such national treatment or most-favored-nation obligations as may apply to trade in goods under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. No national treatment or most-favored-nation obligation under any other agreement shall apply with respect to that measure.

- b) For the purpose of this paragraph, a "measure" is a law, regulation, rule, procedure, decision, administrative action, or any similar provision or action.

ARTICLE 28

Entry Into Force

1. This Convention shall be subject to ratification in accordance with the applicable procedures of each Contracting State and instruments of ratification shall be exchanged as soon as possible.

2. The Convention shall enter into force upon the exchange of instruments of ratification and its provisions shall have effect:

FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:

FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF BANGLADESH:

No. 100

I have the honor to refer to the Convention signed today between the Government of the United States of America and the Government of the People's Republic of Bangladesh for the Avoidance of Double Taxation and the Prevention of Fiscal Evasion with Respect to Taxes on Income. The following understandings were reached between our two Governments:

1. If the United States reaches agreement on the provision of a tax sparing credit with any other country, the United States agrees to reopen negotiations with Bangladesh with a view to the conclusion of a protocol which would extend a tax sparing credit under the treaty.
2. In applying Article 7 (Business Profits) to any case where the information available to the tax authorities is inadequate to determine the profits to be attributed to such permanent establishment, the profits properly attributable to the permanent establishment may be determined on a reasonable basis applying principles consistent with Article 7.

If these understandings meet with the approval of the Government of the People's Republic of Bangladesh, this note and your reply thereto will indicate that our Governments share these understandings.

Accept, Excellency, the renewed assurances of my highest consideration.

Embassy of the United States of America,
Dhaka, September 26, 2004
